

People have been waiting for news on the sequel to 2010's smash hit Kick-Ass for a while. Now we are finally getting some, although it doesn't appear to be good news. While talking to MTV producer Jane Goldman said that the only that is for sure on the film right now is that director Matthew Vaughn will NOT return to helm the project. Goldman went on to say that she and Vaughn are not, as of right now, writing the film either but wouldn't be surprised if he got involved in some sort of producing role. "I think the only thing that is fairly sure is that right now, Matthew doesn't have any plans to direct it. He and I are not currently talking about writing it either. It may well be that Matthew oversees ['Kick-Ass 2'] in a producer role, and I may also be involved in that capacity. I

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=52296&t=Matthew_Vaughn_Unlikely_To_Direct_KICK-ASS_2