

Today Christopher Nolan shared that he has no interest in being involved with Warner Brothers new Justice League project. The decision came as a disappointment to fans because of Nolan's work on the Bat franchise as well as him producing the new Superman flick Man Of Steel. You can put one other name in the list of people who don't expect to be involved with the picture as well, Megan Gale. Gale, who was cast as Wonder Woman in George Miller's Justice League, doesn't expect to hear the phone ring with WB on the line to ask her to play the Amazon Princess. "By the time they write the script and get it together, I don't think they'll be casting a 40-year-old Wonder Woman. Some hot 20-year-old will get the job. As they should. I'm cool with that," the 37 year old model told Moviehole. She is also curious who

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=63375>