

Showbiz Spy originally reported that Jason Statham was the front runner to take over for Shia Beouf and take the Transformers franchise in a darker direction. Speaking on his personal website, Shoot For The Edit Michael Bay had the following to say regarding the Jason Statham rumors: "No completely false. No 4th Transformers movie even exists right now. Thus no one is being considered at this time. How bout, just enjoy the movie out right now." -Michael As previously reported, Michael Bay has stated that this is most likely his last Transformers movie. Based on his response, it would appear that the Statham rumors have touched a nerve, so is it possible that Bay isn't completely opposed to returning for a fourth installment? Michael Bay felt the need to weigh in on the Jason Statham rumors. Does that mean the door is still open for him to return for a 4th

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=41303&t=Michael_Bay_Weighs-In_on_The_Rumors_Surrounding_Jason_Statham_and_Transformers_4