Offers the site, "TVLine has confirmed that the midseason Fox comedy Breaking In has big plans for Rosenbaum's character, a crafty peddler of 'clean urine' who figures into a potential romantic triangle with the top-shelf computer hackers played by Odette Yustman (Brothers & Sisters) and Bret Harrison (V)." While Rosenbaum is not a series regular, executive producer Doug Harrison is hopeful he'll have a part in all six episodes that will air beyond the pilot. Follow the link for more.
