

In the interview Shannon first speaks about his role in Take Shelter and is then quizzed about playing General Zod in Man Of Steel. He once again expresses his admiration for Terence Stamp's original portrayal and then in response to being teased about Superman 2's incarnation of The Phantom Zone (basically the 3 evil kryptonians trapped in a spinning triangle) he says that the new "set up will be a little different" No embed I'm afraid, so click on the image below to watch the vid This at least suggests that we will see The Phantom Zone in some form in the movie. It's a shame Shannon didn't get the chance to elaborate on anything as the annoying Irish "comedian" beside him seemed intent on hogging every bit of spotlight he could. Apologies if you can't view the vid from your location, we are working on uploading a universal version. Thanks to the Man

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=48694&t=Michael_Shannon_Briefly_Talks_iMan_Of_Steel_iSeems_To_Confirm_Phantom_Zone