

He's been pretty critical of Marvel Studios in recent interviews in regards how his portrayal of Whiplash was ultimately delivered in the final cut of Iron Man 2, but the actor has now seemingly decided to take a swipe at director Jon Favreau too! While he doesn't name names, it's not exactly difficult to read between the lines of what he had to say to MTV Splash Page recently. Anyone else getting sick of this guy? While I have no problem with people speaking their mind, what we did see of Rourke (edited or not) was far from amazing, and I can't help but think these remarks are a way of garnering more attention for Immortals! Get More: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog "If they let you play the bad guy with other dimensions other than one dimensional. You have to fight for that though, to bring layers to the character. Otherwise, if you're

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=49549&t=Mickey_Rourke_Seemingly_Accuses_Iron_Man_2_Director_Jon_Favreau_Of_Not_Having_Any_Balls