

As today's filming for Marvel Studios' The Avengers continues in Cleveland, following the presence of the NYPD, and 'Captain America' himself taking on the undisclosed "alien" threat, the Military Police have arrived to the shoot. While the Military forces are likely aiming at the "aliens" as well, because of the slightly different set, it could be something else. Or possibly another fleet of aliens. With footage and images depicting tanks rolling in with extreme firepower, check it out below!

The direction the Military & NYPD forces are firing causes me to believe an extraterrestrial aircraft, that'll be added digitally, may hovering over the scene. Of course, that's just a theory. With special thanks to TheRealSpango for the pics, what do you think? Marvel's The Avengers picks up when an unexpected enemy emerges that
