

For anybody that was interested in the next "Resident Evil" film, here is a tidbit of info, Good Day Peeps! While we already knew that a fifth Resident Evil movie was in the works, a recent tweet from fake actress/actual model Milla Jovovich suggests that the film is called Resident Evil: Retribution. The news comes courtesy of Destructoid, who sifted through Milla Jovovich's twitter feed to find the following comment: "no, its not called 'begins' lol! it 'began' 10 yrs ago! lol! i think its called RE: Retribution, but i have to ask paul 2 b sure." Jovovich also mentions that some scenes from the movie will be filmed in Tokyo. Of course, an ominous subtitle for the movie was a given considering the last three were called Apocalypse, Extinction, and Afterlife. They can call the fifth one anything they want (fans of the games might suggest Resident Evil: Desecration), it will probably still be terrible.
