

Milla Jovovich is like a one woman marketing machine. She has been updating fans with pictures and videos from behind-the-scenes. Many of the images have been tame, while others have been jaw dropping stunts. This time she gives us a detail of a chase scene involving a Rolls Royce that sounds sensational. But, we can do better than just a description, since nailbiter111 came across this set video filmed by an amateur that shows stunt drivers preparing to do stunts with a Rolls Royce. This might just be preparation for the scene Milla was tweeting about. Thanks to: ShockTillYouDrop.com for sharing the post. Paul W.S. Anderson's Resident Evil: Retribution is on its final month of shooting, says star Milla Jovovich (via her Twitter account). This morning, she revealed a big sequence that is currently in the works. "...2day we're still in the middle of the rolls Royce chase sequence, so lots of explosions, glass

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Castle/news/?a=50318&t=Milla_Jovovich_Tweets_About_An_Exciting_Chase_Sequence_in_Resident_Evil_Retribution