

The people over at MTV have screened this weeks episode of The Walking Dead and have given us a taste of what is to come. For those looking for progression in Shane's story line I have got bad news to for you, looks like Daryl is getting the a lot of the screen time in this episode. Also Graphic City posted a something about about Lori from this weeks episode that appears to be confirmed in as well. They also tell us to get ready for what they call Greg Nicotero's best work at zombie make-up. From MTV: After last week's focus on the downward spiral of Shane Walsh (played by Jon Bernthal), the unhinged lawman takes a bit of a back seat in "Cherokee Rose," surrendering the Badass of the Week mantle to none other than Daryl Dixon. Actor Norman Reedus gets a lot of screen time this week as Daryl sets
