

With so many geektastic and nerdgasmic goodies out in the world wide web, none of us can't help but have a huge list of squee-inducing swag that we want our fingers tightly gripped around. Luckily for y'all (yes, I like using the word y'all; big whoop, wanna fight about it?) I have brought myself to use a bit of self-control and give you only a FEW items that I hope to unwrap this year. First up, A Sonic Screwdriver that's actually a screwdriver! Now I recently got into Doctor Who, while I'm not as big a fan as my nerd herd (friends) I still couldn't help but WANT this. Not only is it a replica of Matt Smith's sonic screwdriver but it comes with a flat-head and Phillips head and is a heavy duty tool to show your Whovian pride while putting together a bookshelf or unscrewing a door hinge to escape

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/TheWatchtower/news/?a=51084&=MissOracles_Christmas_Wish_List