

Recently, it was confirmed that Thomas Jane was out as Sylvester's co-star and that Sung Kang would be replacing him. Now we have even more casting confirmations, with Christian Slater, Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje (LOST) and Holt McCallany (Lights Out) all set to join the film which is rumored to start production very soon in New Orleans and New York. It should be noted that Collider is reporting that Adewale is replacing not joining Jason Momoa on the villain side. Slater will play a local handler who acts as a middleman. Adewale also starred as Heavy Duty in G.I. Joe. He will be playing a villain this time. There are conflicting reports as to whether he is replacing Jason Momoa. Last seen in FX's boxing drama, Lights Out, McCallany will be playing a dirty cop who's partners with Kang. Bullet to the Head is an upcoming 2012 action film, directed by Walter Hill

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=41331&t=More_Casting_News_For_iBullet_To_The_Head