

No official word has been released except that she is in talks to join the 23rd Bond movie in an undisclosed role. In this interview with the BBC, the actress confirms a meeting with Sam Mendes who is directing the next installment and the casting team. More than likely official casting news should follow soon. All I can say is I've met the Bond team, I've met Sam Mendes, they're all wonderful. I've auditioned for Bond... My audition was really great actually because it's so top secret, the whole Bond thing. I hadn't realised how top secret it was... I've auditioned for a lot of things before but never for something where you can't see the script, it's that secret... I auditioned with a scene from Quantum of Solace... You don't know what role you're going up for either, so everybody gets given a scene from a previous Bond movie.. I

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MsKyle08/news/?a=39968&t=Naomie_Harris_Confirms_Top_Secret_iJames_Bondi_Audition