

Below is the first official image and description of NECA's 'Captain America' action figure based on the iconic Marvel character's appearance in The Avengers earlier this year. As you can see from the Tweet below, NECA clearly have a lot of plans for Marvel's range of characters, although whether or not that will stretch to figures based on the comic books (rather than just the movies) remains to be seen. Our first 1/4 scale figure from our newly-acquired Marvel Comics license, the Captain America action figure stands 18" tall and features loads of detail and articulation. Over 25 points of articulation including neck, shoulders, torso, elbows, hips, knees, wrists, and more. Includes Cap's signature shield with straps and interchangeable hands. @swiftagent24 @guise_29 guys we're doing more than just Avengers. Marvel is a big Universe.— NECA (@NECA_TOYS) September 6, 2012

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=66853>