

Earlier this year, a few fans were lucky enough to be selected to leave the "Mark of the Spider-Man" on the streets of several different American cities after taking part in a scavenger hunt. The following video (which features those same fans) was just released via the @markofspiderman Twitter account. The latest stage in Sony Pictures' viral campaign for Marc Webb's reboot of the franchise sees a Daily Bugle report with a message from Captain George Stacy. It finishes with a link to a new website which you can visit by clicking on the image below the video. You can report your sightings of Spider-Man via the site and these will presumably be used at a later stage in this viral. What's next? Stay tuned to CBM and we'll be sure to bring you all of the updates as and when they happen. STARRING: Andrew Garfield as Peter Parker/Spider-Man Emma Stone as Gwen Stacy Rhys
