

Tonight's second season 5 episode of Arrow, "The Recruits", sees Oliver put his new team through their paces, and as you'll discover from the clip below, they're not exactly taking too kindly to the Green Arrow's punishment training methods. In addition, the sneak peek from tomorrow's season 2 premiere of Legends of Tomorrow features Albert Einstein waking up after being rescued from some Nazis by Doctor Stein and the team. GUEST STARRING STEPHEN AMELL — After the defeat of the immortal villain Vandal Savage and the exposure of the corrupt Time Masters, a new threat emerges. Dr. Nate Heywood (Nick Zano), an unconventional and charming historian, is thrust into the action. After making a shocking discovery, Nate seeks out Oliver Queen (guest star Stephen Amell) for help in finding the scattered Legends. Once reunited, the Legends continue their new mission to protect the timeline from temporal aberrations – unusual changes to history that spawn potentially catastrophic consequences. Their first stop is 1942 to protect

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/dc_tv/legends_of_tomorrow/new-clips-from-the-legends-of-tomorrow-season-2-a145932