

The Vampire Diaries kicked off its eighth and final season with a bang last night and next week, the madness continues. When Stefan gets a beat on Damon & Enzo's next target, he, Bonnie, & Caroline race to North Carolina, which is coincidentally the residence of his great niece Sarah Salvatore Nelson, to stop the duo before all hell breaks loose. While Bonnie takes desperate measures to save Enzo, Stefan gives Caroline a major surprise. Meanwhile, back at the Armory, Alaric & Georgie discover a mysterious symbol that just may hold the key to understanding and/or stopping this new supernatural entity. Check out the new extended promo and two promotional stills below: "Today Will Be Different"— (8:00-9:00 p.m. ET) (TV-14, DLV) (HDTV) WILLPOWER — After learning that someone from Stefan's (Paul Wesley) past may be Damon (Ian Somerhalder) and Enzo's (Michael Malarkey) next target, Stefan, Bonnie (Kat Graham) and Caroline (Candice King) head to North Carolina. There, Bonnie takes drastic measures in an attempt to break

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/horror/new-extended-promo-stills-for-the-vampire-diaries-season-8-episode-2-today-a146223>