

We have already had one very brief and unrevealing teaser for season 2 of Game Of Thrones and now HBO have given us another, albeit with a bit more to go on.. "The night is dark and full of terrors" is a line said by Melisandre in the books though clearly not delivered by actress Carice van Houten in this teaser. My guess is it's actor Stephen Dillane as Stannis Baratheon we hear. Along with the above teaser we have a possible air date for the first ep of season 2 in April 2012. Yep, still a while to go yet I'm afraid. As cool as this is I think they could have given us a little more. The show has been filming for a few months in Belfast now so we know there is footage that could have been used. Still, I'm too much of a fan not to get excited
