

A few days ago CBM user Armageddon26 posted our first look at the actual updated costume Captain America will be wearing for next year's The Avengers. Now, the folks at Ain't It Cool News have managed to get their hands on some more images of the suit that offer a much better look at the outfit, minus most the glare. There seems to be much more detail visible in the following images. Check them out and voice your opinion on the new Cap threads. By TwitterButtons.com
