

With all of recent great new pics from this movie this probably isn't that exciting for some, but Mark over at Live For Films received his subscriber's issue of Empire's 2012 preview issue and was good enough to post a pic of the cover, featuring Andrew Garfield as an unmasked Spider-Man. It's a new shot, but with all of the leaked set pics we have seen it looks kinda familiar at the same time. But there are apparently some more new snaps in teh mag itself so keep an eye out for updates. Spidey is looking a bit the worse for wear here and I think we should have a pretty good idea where those claw marks came from. You can also see some Avengers/Hobbit/TDKR goings on in the background, hopefully there will be some cool new updates on those movies in the issue too. By TwitterButtons.com

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=51381&t=New_Image_Of_Andrew_Garfield_As_THE_AMAZING_SPIDER-MAN_On_Empire_Cover_Low_Res