

Toynews.com has a few photos of Batman and The Joker direct from The Tokyo Game Show 2011. This is the first I have seen of these figures and they really do capture the source material perfectly. The images are coming from Japanese site Moeyo.com. The site is in Japanese so more power to you if you can read it. Still there are more than just these two figures to look at when visiting the site. It looks like everything from Batman to Street Fighter is being showcased at the event. Moeyo has posted more images from the TOKYO GAME SHOW 2011. This time we get a nice look at the upcoming Arkham Asylum Batman and Joker figures from the Square Enix Play Arts line.
