

On Channel 4 this Sunday, a brand new international trailer for Prometheus will be unveiled during the first commercial break of the latest episode (to air in the UK) of Homeland confirm Brand Republic. 20th Century Fox has teamed with the broadcaster in a special event which will see fans Tweet their reactions with the #areyouseeingthis hashtag. A selection of the responses will then be featured in a 40 second TV spot during the next ad break. The "Weyland Investor Blog" on Tumblr also reveals that the film has received a provisional 15 rating in the UK. Whether or not this means that it will ultimately get a PG-13 classification in the US remains to be seen, but it seems unlikely at this point. Make sure to stay tuned to CBM this Sunday as we'll bring you the trailer as soon as becomes available. STARRING: Noomi Rapace as Elizabeth Shaw Michael Fassbender as David Guy
