

The folks over at Schmoes Know tend to be a little hit and miss in terms of scoops, but this one is well worth paying attention to seeing as it lines up with so much of what we've heard about Wonder Woman recently. Around the 1:41:30 mark in the video below, one of the team claims to have heard from an insider that the movie is a mess, and worryingly, that same person told them the exact same thing about Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice some time ago. Here's the exact quote from them: "So, I don't want to throw anyone under the bus. We have somebody within our community who has gotten insider information that broke my effing heart this week, because I have tremendous belief that Wonder Woman is gonna be awesome and I heard it stinks from the same person who told me that they heard that BvS stinks...The person who I spoke to...their response was 'I'm very
