

Source: Joblo Joblo spoke with a source close to the production who says that there are no new delays and the schedule for the film is the same as it has been for the past few months, which is to say that the film will begin shooting sometime in "spring 2012". Joblo's source says there is no official start date at this time but pre-production is moving ahead at its original pace. Back in August, it was reported that the movie was being delayed until 2012 for a host of reasons. Earlier today, Moviehole reported that the WOLVERINE sequel could be pushed back even further. Specifically they reported that the movie was delayed again from early 2012 and would have a new start date sometime later in the year. It was implied that the film had been put on hold. Joblo further undoes this claim, reporting that "the majority of the filming will
