

In the game, players are cast as Kirk and Spock as they go up against a "legendary enemy," which rumor has will be the Klingons. Said Tom Lesinsinski, President of Paramount Digital Entertainment, "Star Trek challenges the boundaries of co-op gameplay with a galactic adventure that gamers and fans have never experienced. Working closely with the Star Trek filmmaking team throughout development, the game is sure to deliver AAA production values, a wide variety of gameplay and all the action you would expect from the hit franchise. This will be the definitive Star Trek gaming experience." The game is written by God of War writer Marianne Krawczyk in collaboration with the films' writers, Bob Orci and Alex Kurtzman.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/startrekthenandnow/news/?a=38719&t=New_Star_Trek_Game_Based_on_JJ_Abrams_Film_-_Plus_First_Screen_Shot