

Via Superman Super Site, we now have three new stills from DC Animation's next project, Justice League: Doom, based loosely on Mark Waid's critically acclaimed JLA: Tower Of Babel, which deals with Batman's perceived betrayal to the superhuman community by keeping records concerning the strengths and weaknesses of his allies in the Justice League. In addition, a press release has been issued announcing the world premiere of the film, which takes place February 13th, 2012 (15 days before the movie hits DVD/Blu-Ray). The press release also says that you can get free tickets to the event if you live in New York (where the premiere is being held); to find out how, check out the press release below. Warner Home Video, MTV Geek and The Paley Center for Media proudly present the World Premiere of Justice League: Doom, the next entry in the popular, ongoing series of DC Universe Animated Original Movies,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=51658&t=New_Stills_From_JUSTICE_LEAGUE_DOOM_Debut_Info_On_World_Premiere