

It appears from this pic that Levitt and Cotillard will share scenes anyway. Some previous pics of the actress in unusual garb suggested that she will most certainly play a dual role, be that Talia Al Ghul or another character remains to be seen. But I wouldn't bet against it. Levitt's character is also something of a mystery. All we know for certain is.. Gordon-Levitt will play John Blake, a Gotham City beat cop assigned to special duty under the command of Commissioner Gordon. Now of course that may be all there is to it. Nolan has assembled such a large cats that Blake may just play a very small role in helping out Gordon. I doubt it, but it's a possibility. Do you guys think he has more of a part to play in the story? Keep an eye on CBM for more set pics from the Pittsburgh shoot of The Dark Knight
