

It looks like The Defenders is going to be one jam-packed series. Following the news that both Karen Page (Deborah Ann Woll) and Misty Knight (Simone Missick) would be stepping in to aid the team, a new official teaser video confirms that Jessica Jones characters Jeri Hogarth (Carrie-Anne Moss) and Malcolm Ducasse (Eka Darville), as well as Daredevil's Foggy Nelson (Elden Henson) will also be on hand to lend their support. It's not clear if they'll have substantial roles or not, but it'll be nice to see a few more familiar faces on the show even if they only drop in to say hello. Aside from Foggy. We're all good for Foggy. Assemble your allies: #EldenHenson, @AnnapurnaLiving and @ekadarville are back for The #Defenders. pic.twitter.com/mqDHtP5CZL — The Defenders (@TheDefenders) November 1, 2016 You can check out the first set pic from the currently shooting The Defenders right HERE, and keep an eye out for a few more later on today.
