

The much-anticipated release for Matthew Vaughn's praised-X-Men: First Class prequel is days away, So as usual, various goods from the film are being revealed. And the latest is composer Henry Jackman's incredible score, embed as a playlist below. Also revealed, yet another Tv spot dropping very brief snippets of footage, with a clever new line from Charles Xavier. X-Men: First Class charts the epic beginning of the X-Men saga, and reveals a secret history of famous global events. Before mutants had revealed themselves to the world, and before Charles Xavier and Erik Lensherr took the names Professor X and Magneto, they were two young men discovering their powers for the first time. Not archenemies, they were instead at first the closest of friends, working together with other Mutants (some familiar, some new), to stop Armageddon. In the process, a grave rift between them opened, which began the eternal war between Magneto's Brotherhood
