Could they found Woodbury before Rick does? Looks like someone is in the Governor's Truck. They could be going somewhere important. Merle Dixon (Michael Rooker) Is Back! Well I'm damn glad to have Michael Rooker back. Hopefully this time he isn't just a figment of Daryl's imagination. A bit of speculating, but if we assume that Merle is "real" and we know these photos are from the Woodbury set (The Governor's home), then we could deduce that he is part of The Governor's clan. In season one Rick has to leave Merle handcuffed on the roof of a building, and when he returns for him it's clear that Merle had caught off his own hand to escape. Merle may want an eye for eye so to speak. If
