

This past Thursday saw Nick Zano make his bick debut on Legends Of Tomorrow as Nate Hayewood, but we've yet to see the character suit up as his heroic alter ego, Citizen Steel. But as you can see in the above image, we now have our first look at the actor in costume. The image also sees the Zano, and other members of the Legends, standing alongside Supergirl as part of the eventual crossover between the CW shows. So what are your thoughts on the character's costume? TEAM WORK — The Legends travel to Nazi-occupied Paris, but find themselves surrounded by the Justice Society of America (AKA JSA.) The Legends discover a time aberration that threatens the JSA, but the JSA wants nothing to do with them or their help. Nevertheless, the Legends force their way into the JSA's mission to intercept and seize a mysterious package. Nate (Nick Zano) is desperate to prove that he should be part of the team, but

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/dc_tv/legends_of_tomorrow/nick-zanos-citizen-steel-costume-revealed-in-new-set-a146030