

If you're a fan of pop culture, you should be listening to the Pop My Culture Podcast hosted by Cole Stratton and Vanessa Ragland. If you're a fan of animation (especially animation voice-work), you should at least be listening to their latest episode. In the first part of their Best of 2011 edition, voice talent Rob Paulsen--Raphael of Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Yakko and Pinky of Animaniacs, and Arthur of The Tick (also G.I. Joe, Transformers, Johnny Quest, Attack of the Killer Tomatoes, Darkwing Duck, The Mask, Spider-Man, Samurai Jack and so much more)--discusses his love of the IFC show Portlandia, AMC's Walking Dead, and Woody Allen's Midnight in Paris. James Urbaniak (Dr. Venture of The Venture Brothers) discusses Ashton Kutcher's Twitter account and proclaims Rebecca Black a "fascinating individual." Meredith Salenger (who provided several voices for Star Wars: The Clone Wars and who appeared in an episode of Buffy the Vampire

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/multiverseofinfo/news/?a=52767&t=NINJA_TURTLES_VENTURE_BROS_STAR_WARS_Voice_Actors_Review_Pop_Culture