

With the filming for The Wolverine wrapping up in a couple of weeks, it seems like we will see a lot more official stuff from the film. On October 29th, there will be a live chat (at 1PM PST) with director James Mangold and Hugh Jackman, where they will also show a behind-the-scenes footage. Who knows, we might see something else too. Right now, they are shooting the film in Sydney, and thanks to The Daily Telegraph, here are some new set photos featuring a sword-wielding ninja on top of the snowy roof top. Check it out: "Once the cameras started rolling about 20 men dressed as black ninjas wielding samurai swords raced across the set. They waved their weapons around and at one point a ninja riding on a motorcycle sped straight through the middle of the scene." "The ninjas were even scouring the snowy roof tops of one building." Directed by James
