

Madison Davenport has reportedly joined the impressive cast assembled for Darren Aronofsky's Noah. Davenport (15) will portray Na'el (Na'eltama'uk was the wife of Ham) which will presumably see the young actress sharing plenty of screen time with Logan Lerman. The film already boasts a cast of Russell Crowe, Anthony Hopkins Kevin Durand, Lerman, Jennifer Connelly and Emma Watson. The Paramount Pictures film is currently set for a March 28, 2014 release. What makes this film interesting is that Aronofsky actually created a graphic novel based on his ideas for the film in order to get the project greenlit. RELATED CONTENT: G.I. JOE RETALIATION: ReShoots Confirmed, Rumors Abound That Paramount Is Seeking Joseph Gordon-Levitt To Return As Cobra Commander Looking Back #4: Batman Beyond Live-Action Movie Running Time: Unknown Release Date: 28 March 2014 (USA) MPAA Rating: Unknown Starring: Russell Crowe, Anthony Hopkins, Lerman, Jennifer Connelly and Emma Watson Directed by: Darren Aronofsky

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=65412>