

Courtesy of ScreenRant, we now have some description of the footage shown for the upcoming Total Recall remake and the fourth Underworld installment, screened at Sony Pictures' panel at New York Comic-Con last night. Obviously a spoiler warning for those who don't like spoilers, for both descriptions contain some of 'em. For Total Recall, the same intro that was screened at San Diego Comic-Con preceded a montage of various scenes (some of which has unfinished CGI), including a cat fight between Kate Beckinsale and Jessica Biel. A new 3D trailer for Underworld: Awakening was shown too, fleshing out the story and more of Kate Beckinsale's Selene kicking tail. The first footage screened was a new 3D trailer for Underworld: Awakening, introduced by Len Wiseman. The trailer featured the usual scenes of Kate Beckinsale as Selene, kicking ass and taking names; there was a bit of the gimmicky "Fly at the screen" 3D

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=48325&t=NYCC_11_Description_Of_ITotal_Recall_And_IUnderworld_Awakeningi_Footage