

The main voice cast for The LEGO Batman Movie was announced long ago, but as with any animated feature, there were bound to be more than a handful of surprises being kept under wraps until the film's theatrical release and today, with the film just one week away, we've learned who else will be providing their voice to the upcoming Batman movie. The cast is headlined by Will Arnett as Bruce Wayne/Batman, followed by Zach Galifianakis as The Joker, Michael Cera as Dick Grayson/Robin, Rosario Dawson as Barbara Gordon/Batgirl, Ralph Fiennes as Alfred Pennyworth, Mariah Carey as Mayor McCaskill, Jenny Slate as Dr. Harleen Quinzel/Harley Quinn, Billy Dee Williams as Harvey Dent/Two-Face, and Héctor Elizondo as Commissioner James Gordon. As for the rest of the supporting cast, Conan O'Brien is voicing Edward Nygma/The Riddler, Jason Mantzoukas is voicing Dr. Jonathan Crane/Scarecrow, Doug Benson is voicing Bane, Zoë Kravitz is voicing Selina Kyle/Catwoman, Kate Micucci is voicing Basil Karlo/Clayface, Riki Lindhome is voicing Pamela Isley/Poison
