

The first season of Luke Cage was met with an overwhelmingly positive response, but it's been a while since it premiered on Netflix and we've heard nothing about a second season...until now! As you can see, Marvel has confirmed that the series will return, but a premiere date has yet to be announced. Jessica Jones was also renewed for a second season shortly after hitting the online streaming service, but it wasn't released this year and won't be with us during 2017 as the likes of Iron Fist, The Punisher, and The Defenders are on the way instead. So, while we'll see Luke Cage in the latter, we may have a couple of years to wait before getting to see Power Man set off on another solo adventure in Harlem! What would you guys like to see in season two of Luke Cage? Let us know your thoughts below. Always forward. #LukeCage pic.twitter.com/4pnu52KFKr — Luke Cage (@LukeCage) December 4, 2016

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/tv/marvel/luke_cage/official-marvel-and-netflix-renew-luke-cage-for-a-second-a147279