

"You were given an Oscar for Best actress. You would also get one for being the worst." Ouch! In this hilarious video from BBC Radio 1, the aim of the game for Passengers stars Chris Pratt and Jennifer Lawrence is to insult each other in the worst way possible, and things get pretty extreme as a result! So yeah, this isn't a video to show your kids. hilariously, it's Chris Pratt who takes a swipe at the X-Men movies, something he's probably well within his rights to do when you compare X-Men: Apocalypse's box office haul to that of Guardians of the Galaxy! Regardless, these two have a lot of chemistry, and while we won't see their comic book characters share the big screen, Passengers should be fun. Who do you think dished out the best insults? As always, let us know in the comments section.
