

DC properties have had a bit of a hard time finding a home on our tv screens. No doubt Smallville was very popular, but it still had it's fair share of detractors and both Aquaman and Wonder Woman both had pilots that failed to be picked up. There was also a Flash tv show that many remember fondly(I don't) and lets not even mention that Justice League pilot. Birds Of Prey I found watchable! But probably more down to the eye candy than anything else. There was also that test footage from a potential Blue Beetle show that we haven't heard anything from since. Anyway, the point is they need a winner. The CW will be bringing us another DC Superhero but which one would translate best to a tv series format, and which one most deserves to be adapted? Here is a list of potentials. Some have already been rumored or

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=43858&t=POLL_What_DC_Property_Would_You_Like_To_See_On_TV_Next