

We already knew about the new Captain America, Iron Man and Thor movies, but this past weekend at the San Diego Comic-Con saw Marvel Studios reveal the rest of their initial "Phase Two" plans. With Guardians of the Galaxy set for 2014 and Ant-Man expected to go into production next year, we also have the The Winter Soldier and The Dark World titles for Captain America 2 and Thor 2, along with some very promising new details about Iron Man 3 (The Mandarin! Extremis! Iron Patriot!). While the studio may still have a few more films up their sleeves before we enter "Phase Three" (the still to be officially announced The Avengers 2 or Black Panther for example) but these are all on the way and the question now, is which are you most looking forward to?

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=64029>