

Hank Pym was a founding Avenger and the first hero to hold the mantle of Ant-Man before moving on to other personas such as Giant-Man and Yellowjacket. Scott Lang stole the uniform to save his daughter and became an Avenger before dying during the events of Avengers: Disassembled (he recently returned in (Avengers: The Children's Crusade). Eric O'Grady was an Agent of S.H.I.E.L.D. who also stole the Ant-Man costume and used it to stalk women and steal; however, he later became a hero and member of the Secret Avengers. All three of the characters have interesting stories, but which would you most like to see in Edgar Wright's Ant-Man?
