

Just who is the mysterious mo-cap actor spotted on the Man of Steel set last month? I for one don't think that this is simply a stand in for Michael Shannon. He's already been spotted in a mo-cap suit, and there's no reason to believe he'll "Hulk Out" so to speak and become a giant enemy for Superman to face. Instead, I believe that it's far more likely some sort of monstrous henchman, and looking back at the comments sections of past articles when this mo-cap man was first photographed, it's clear that Doomsday is the #1 choice with you guys. Of course, it seems like this villain would be better suited to being the ONLY one facing off against the Man of Steel in a movie, but who knows what director Zack Snyder has up his sleeves! Introducing Doomsday now may just be the perfect way of bringing him back
