

The upcoming relaunch of the DC universe has been met with criticism and praise in equal measure. Many are glad that they'll be erasing much of the convoluted continuity, while other longtime fans are livid at some of the changes this will result in. (Oracle once again donning the mantle of Batgirl for example) Recently though, and since the reboot that's not really a reboot was announced, there's been some talk about whether or not Marvel should do the same. Many quite rightly point out that Marvel will be keeping a very close eye on how all this works for DC, while they've surely noticed the huge amount of orders for Justice League #1. But what do you guys think? Should they "pull a DC" and reboot the MU?! Here's your chance to decide...

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45423&t=POLL_Would_You_Like_To_See_Marvel_Pull_A_DC_And_Relaunch_Their_Comic_Universe