

Hey, they went with the original costume! Do you think that will hurt the believability of the film? Here is the press release... April 7, 2011 --- CHATSWORTH, Calif. --- Extreme Comixxx, known throughout the industry as the leader in comic-oriented adult parodies, is at it again – this time with “Captain America: An Extreme Comixxx Parody”. In a cunning move to whet the fanboy appetites, the studio is releasing a promotional poster featuring Evan Stone as Captain America. The indicated release date of “Captain America: An Extreme Comixxx Parody” is July 2011. The poster closely echoes the upcoming mainstream blockbuster release, also premiering in July. The mainstream film has built huge anticipation by slowly releasing teaser details like posters and trailers, driving the comic community into a frenzy. Extreme Comixxx owner Jerry says, “This one is huge, with a celebrity budget and special effects to match.
