

The people over at Cosmic Book News have been sent some possible details for the up coming Zack Snyder comic book movie Man of Steel. This information is not confirmed, and some of the news has already been debunked so take this with a grain of salt, but there are some new bits of information in what was sent. From Cosmic Book News:

- Braniac destroys Krypton and may be set-up to be the villain in the sequel (if there is one).
- Krypton will not be the crystalline version like in the Donner films, but will incorporate technology, which is now considered "definite Kryptonian technology" with a more alien contemporary feel.
- The Kryptonians featured will be Jor-El, Zod, Faora and Jax-Ur. Lara Lor-Van was mentioned in earlier drafts, but not a sure thing as the scripts are changing.
- Zack Snyder would like Jon Hamm to portray Jor-El.
- There are flashback scenes related
