

iFanboy.com (by way of HeroComplex) is reporting that next month at the HeroComplex Film Festival. Geoff Johns & Jim Lee will be attending & will be at the screening of Richard Donner's 'Superman' & 'Superman II' (Donner Cut? who knows) but they will be making a 'HUGE ANNOUNCEMENT' concerning Superman and/or the DC Universe on film. Superstar comics creators Geoff Johns and Jim Lee say they are bringing bombshell announcements about the future of Superman and the entire DC Universe to the Hero Complex Film Festival on June 11. Could it just be about the comic event FLASHPOINT & the rumored renumbering of all the titles after the event is over? Being as Johns & Lee are involved it's likely..but the site also mentions this: On the film festival website it says of the panel: "...special appearance by DC Entertainment Chief Creative Officer Geoff Johns, discussing the big-screen future of the DC Universe." What do
