They were closed but Andrea called in some friends of hers that work in the mines (the mines are still active). We had an interesting conversation at one of the guy's place. The woman was dressed casual/civilian. - the crew shot there for a week, no vehicles present. Two scenes shot in the elevator. - the mines equipment and "amusement park" was covered in green and blue screen, with the exception of the medical center, which was kept in the shots - the mining tunnel (used for truck to get salt out) was shot but no vehicles
