

With principal photography well underway on Chris Nolan's highly-anticipated 'Batman' threequel The Dark Knight Rises, and story details kept underwraps, rumors persist. And the latest rumor involves Batman's tireless butler & assistant Alfred Pennyworth, who actor Michael Caine portrays respectively. Originated at the disputable SHH forums, heres what a user had to say. Have been hanging around the location filming just down the road from where I live off and on throughout the day. Could tell that the majority of the filming was going on inside rather than outside. I didn't take any pictures, because all there was to see was some lighting rigs, two big Panavision trucks, a wardrobe truck and security guards. Nothing worthy of a photograph. We did eventually talk to a security guard, who told us The Croydon Delta Point building is doubling for a Gotham hospital and Alfred is admitted as a patient The Dark Knight Rises' story details

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=38415&t=Possible\_Spoiler\_Regarding\_Alfred\_In\_iThe\_Dark\_Knight\_Risesi\_Revealed