

Thanks to a tip-off via Twitter, I was pointed in the direction of the following post by one of the users over at Batman-News. You can read more by clicking on the link below, but here is the comment. I got some snaps of Wayne/Bane falling out of a window in a Croydon office block last night (2 June) Apparently this is a hospital set. A long wait for some ok shots. Croydon was actually looking good too, who'd have thunk it? Until this person posts the supposed photos, it's best to take the info with a pinch of salt. (as with any rumor) However, it certainly sounds plausible after the recent spoilers DCMarvelFreshman posted which claimed that Alfred would be hospitalised at some point. Could Bane be lying in wait for an unsuspecting Bruce Wayne after attacking Alfred? Be sure to share your thoughts and speculate in the usual place! With an all star
