

According to Brian Michael Bendis, the FX adaptation of Powers will begin filming soon. As previously mentioned, the pilot is supposed to start shooting in June. "We're filming in just a few weeks," Bendis said to Newsarama. "Our cast is being locked down. Literally, the deals are being closed as we speak — some really surprising names. It's very, very exciting," Bendis said. "We're designing, we have costumes, we have sets. It's really underway. It's not one of those bullsh*t announcements you'll have to sit through all the time, trying to figure out if it's real. Bendis, who is also executive producer of the show had this to say about his heavy involvement in the show's production "It was one of those situations where I could choose my level of involvement," Bendis said. "This is a very positive experience, with very interesting, smart storytellers, and that's all I'm looking for in life, that kind of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MsKyle08/news/?a=39493&t=iPowersi_To_Start_Filming_In_A_Few_Weeks